

WEAPONS OF ANEW

This Tampa-based hard rock outfit, originally from New Jersey, released their debut, The Collision of Love and Hate, in 2017. Heavy touring followed, including opening for Scott Stapp, Alterbridge, Tesla and more. Weapons of Anew thrive in a live setting, connecting with their fans on and off the stage. Weapons of Anew started recording a second album, releasing their cover of The Chainsmokers "Sick Boy" as a prelude in September 2020, becoming a Top 20 Active Rock track.

After a brief hiatus for a move to Florida, the much anticipated second release, Art of War, is seeing the light of day with a trilogy of tracks that tie together to tell the story of one's inner struggles and how they can consume and take you over.

Weapons of Anew is powered by Freddy Ordine, Reno, Dunté Mason, Nick Farahvashi and Julius Mendoza.
